Description

Pull Out Kitchen Tap that made of Stainless Steel

This vintage brushed stainless steel tapware with a high-arch spout and spring pull down sprayhead will get you compliments.

The EX-200 commercial tap is the epitome of functionality and style. The kitchen tap, a high-end alternative for contemporary kitchen spaces, has you covered, making kitchen duties a breeze—thanks to the pull-down sprayhead for food prep, dishwashing, and filling pots.

With a built-in magnetic force, the premium pull out sink mixer locks the sprayhead to the spout after usage. The kitchen tap mixer is composed of rust, corrosion, and wear-resistant stainless steel and is masterfully crafted to complement all types of contemporary interior designs. To keep it looking new, you only need to wipe it down with a light soap after each usage.
